A Mother Tells How She Saved Her Little Daughter's Life.

I am the mother of eight children and have had a great deal of experience with medicines. Last summer my little daughter had the dysentery in its worst form. We thought she would die. I tried everything I could think of, but nothing seemed to do her any good. I saw by an advertisement in our paper that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was highly recommended and sent and got a bottle at once. It proved to be one of the very best medicines we ever had in the house. It saved my little daughter's life. I am anxious for every mother to know what an excellent medicine it is. Had I known it at first it would have saved me a great deal of anxiety and my little daughter much suffering. Yours truly, Mrs. Geo. F. Burdick, Liberty, R. I. For sale by all druggists. E. Steinbacher & Co., wholesale agents.

A Letter to Mrs. Pinkham Brought Health to Mrs. Archambault.

[LETTER TO MRS. PINKHAM, No. 42,263]

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—For two years I felt tired and so weak and dizzy that some days I could hardly go around the house. Backache and headache all the time and my food would not digest and had such pains in the womb and troubled with leucorrhoea and kidneys were affected.

"After birth of each child I grew weaker, and hearing so much of the good you had done, I wrote to you and have taken six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, one box of Lozenges, one box of Liver Pills, one package of Sanative Wash, and today I am feeling as well as I ever did. When I get up in the morning I feel as fresh as I did when a girl and eat and sleep well and do all of my work. If ever I feel weak again shall know where to get my strength. I know your medicine cured me."—MRS. SALIZA ARCHAMBAULT, CHAMBERLAIN, MASS.

The present Mrs. Pinkham's experience in treating female ills is unparalleled; for years she worked side by side with Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, and for sometime past has had sole charge of the correspondence department of her great business, treating by letter as many as a hundred thousand ailing women a year. All women who suffer are invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., for advice, which will be promptly given without charge.

Troublesome to the Army.

During the civil war, as well as in our late war with Spain, diarrhoea was one of the most troublesome diseases the army had to contend with. In many instances it became chronic and the old soldiers still suffer from it. Mr. David Taylor of Wind Ridge, Greene Co., Pa., is one of these. He uses Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and says he never found anything that would give him such quick relief. It is for sale by all druggists. E. Steinbacher & Co., wholesale agents.

A Laugh on Lord Kelvin.

A good story is related of Lord Kelvin's lecturing methods at the Glasgow university. As a professor of science he can use long words in such formidable array as would make a dictionary break its binding with horror. During a course of lectures on magnetism, for instance, he defined an ideal magnet as "an infinitely long, infinitely thin, uniform and uniformly and longitudinally magnetized bar," and the misguided students vociferously cheered, which caused the professor to say: "Silence!" This definition was made and cheered, with the usual reprimand, frequently during the lectures. Once, near the conclusion, however, the students did not cheer, but Lord Kelvin, from force of habit, repeated out "Silence!" the same as before.

Yet It Is So.

It is terribly hard for a boy to be in the vicinity of his father when he hears him declare that no one is truly happy and contented unless he has work to do.—Atchison Globe.

INLAND.

The Board of Education of this township met Saturday at Inland. Regular routine business was transacted. The balance of the time was spent in discussing and perfecting plans for the new high school. The time for receiving applications for positions as teachers was continued until Aug. 26, when a special meeting of the Board will be held to employ instructors for high school and grammar grade of sub-district No. 7. The committee on high school teachers is composed of C. C. Foster, R. M. Burkett and Levi Leiser.

Last Wednesday Herman Graybill's house was burned to the ground. Very few of the contents were saved. Sparks from a fire burning out started the fire.

Rev. W. E. Crispin, editor of Solid Facts, of Akron, spent Saturday and Sunday here. Saturday he introduced the Standard Dictionary to the Board of Education and on Sunday preached in the Evangelical church. In the evening he delivered a temperance lecture in the United Evangelical church.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for details. Address F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the best.

Many People in Akron Learn to Appreciate.

What a blessing it is, sought after by thousands. Akron is finding it out. Many a miserable man is happy now. Nights of unrest, days of trouble. Any itching skin disease means this. Itching piles mean it. Eczema just as bad and just as hard to cure.

But Doan's Ointment relieves at once, and cures all itching of the skin.

A blessing to a suffering public.

Mr. Stephen Hogan, of 218 North Maple st., employed at O'Neil & Co., says: "I cannot too strongly express my admiration and gratitude for Doan's Ointment which was procured at John Lamporter & Co.'s drug store. Years ago while mining in Colorado, I contracted a rectal trouble which resisted every remedy I was able to get and the agony I had endured cannot be described. I suffered from the most excruciating irritation not only during the day but at nights and efforts to restrain the itching only increased it and I could not refrain from rubbing, which only made matters worse. Doan's Ointment relieved me at once and in a short time removed the soreness. I have to thank this valuable preparation from relieving me from misery. I could not sleep well after using it and did not suffer in any way from the annoying and embarrassing affliction."

THE GAME OF QUOITS.

CAN BE PLAYED ANY PLACE AND IS SPLENDID EXERCISE.

It is a Very Ancient English Game, and its Beginnings Are Lost in the Mist of Ages—Fine Training For the Eye and Arm.

There are some games which have never had their boom, and quito is one of them. Still, as nothing happens but the unexpected, it may be that the time is nearly ripe for quito to be taken out of its undeserved obscurity, to be exalted to the status of a national game, to have columns in the sporting press devoted to the doings of its champions. Stranger things have happened. Who, for instance, would have said when at the end of the 18th century a few conceited quito men were walking about on horseback, that quito would ever attain such popularity as the bicycle, but the unprejudiced person can see no reason why it should not become as favorite a pastime as golf, which a very few years ago was almost unheard of south of the Tweed.

Quito is a very fine game, especially in the winter time. It is splendid exercise and trains the eye and hand to act together in a way that few other sports can do, for the very essence of it is accuracy of aim at a mark placed below the level of the hand. It has been objected that throwing quito makes the player lopsided, but, after all, it is easily remedied, for there is nothing to prevent the player throwing the quito with his left hand if he so pleases, and such a change would make a variation in the game and also afford an excellent method of handicapping the men of unequal skill. Quito strengthens the arms and shoulders, but it is not a pastime which primarily demands strength.

A great advantage of the game is that it can be played in any small space and that the ground need not be particularly level. Any rough field or waste bit of ground is good enough for a quito pitch, and no rolling or cutting is required to satisfy the demands of the most exigent. For cricket you need a carefully prepared wicket, for lawn tennis and croquet a piece of turf like a billiard table and for golf the best part of a country all to yourself, but for quito you only need a few yards of rough ground, and you have as good a place for throwing as any one can possibly require.

People certainly might play quito more than they do, but the taking up of a game is usually a matter of fancy, and perhaps two things stand in the way of quito. First, there is an idea that it is a "trashy" sport and can only be played by the rough country lads.

A blessing to a suffering public.

Mr. Stephen Hogan, of 218 North Maple st., employed at O'Neil & Co., says: "I cannot too strongly express my admiration and gratitude for Doan's Ointment which was procured at John Lamporter & Co.'s drug store. Years ago while mining in Colorado, I contracted a rectal trouble which resisted every remedy I was able to get and the agony I had endured cannot be described. I suffered from the most excruciating irritation not only during the day but at nights and efforts to restrain the itching only increased it and I could not refrain from rubbing, which only made matters worse. Doan's Ointment relieved me at once and in a short time removed the soreness. I have to thank this valuable preparation from relieving me from misery. I could not sleep well after using it and did not suffer in any way from the annoying and embarrassing affliction."

THE GAME OF QUOITS.

CAN BE PLAYED ANY PLACE AND IS SPLENDID EXERCISE.

It is a Very Ancient English Game, and its Beginnings Are Lost in the Mist of Ages—Fine Training For the Eye and Arm.

There are some games which have never had their boom, and quito is one of them. Still, as nothing happens but the unexpected, it may be that the time is nearly ripe for quito to be taken out of its undeserved obscurity, to be exalted to the status of a national game, to have columns in the sporting press devoted to the doings of its champions. Stranger things have happened. Who, for instance, would have said when at the end of the 18th century a few conceited quito men were walking about on horseback, that quito would ever attain such popularity as the bicycle, but the unprejudiced person can see no reason why it should not become as favorite a pastime as golf, which a very few years ago was almost unheard of south of the Tweed.

Quito is a very fine game, especially in the winter time. It is splendid exercise and trains the eye and hand to act together in a way that few other sports can do, for the very essence of it is accuracy of aim at a mark placed below the level of the hand. It has been objected that throwing quito makes the player lopsided, but, after all, it is easily remedied, for there is nothing to prevent the player throwing the quito with his left hand if he so pleases, and such a change would make a variation in the game and also afford an excellent method of handicapping the men of unequal skill. Quito strengthens the arms and shoulders, but it is not a pastime which primarily demands strength.

A great advantage of the game is that it can be played in any small space and that the ground need not be particularly level. Any rough field or waste bit of ground is good enough for a quito pitch, and no rolling or cutting is required to satisfy the demands of the most exigent. For cricket you need a carefully prepared wicket, for lawn tennis and croquet a piece of turf like a billiard table and for golf the best part of a country all to yourself, but for quito you only need a few yards of rough ground, and you have as good a place for throwing as any one can possibly require.

People certainly might play quito more than they do, but the taking up of a game is usually a matter of fancy, and perhaps two things stand in the way of quito. First, there is an idea that it is a "trashy" sport and can only be played by the rough country lads.

JABE WON THE BELLE

YET HIS FACE WAS HOMELY ENOUGH TO SCARE CHILDREN.

He Had Given Up All Hope of Ever Getting a Wife Until He Accidentally Learned His Power, and Then He Got Mighty Particular.

"I reckon Jabe Hawkins was about the ugliest man the Lord ever let live," said Uncle Ben as he meditatively whittled his knife upon his back log. "I've never struck a girl that was around for a half hour just to get another look at his face and then go right off and take a drink of ickier. Seemed to kind of give 'em a relish for it. I've knowed folk women to scare their children into spasms by threatening to give 'em to Jabe, an' they do say he's been the cause of more than one runaway. He was just pizen ugly, an' that's all they was to it. It was a dirty pity, too, because he was a mighty nice man if you happened to meet him in the dark, an' he had money in the bank at Maple Run an' 50 acres of a fine bottom land as ever felt a plow."

"Well, in spite of 'im bein so blame homely that he dassent look a woman in the face, this yere cuss was always wanted for his money, an' of course, they want to go to get at it. He advertised some in the city paper an' writ letters to lots of women that way, but he was honest to the core, an' when the thing got along far enough so 'en they might anything come of it he always sent his photograph, an' that ended it."

"Once they was a mighty likely wife from a yare back that got to like Jabe purty well through his letter writin, an' I must say he was a good hand at that, before he sent his pickshur. After studyin over his lineaments for a couple o' months she made up her mind to come on anyhow, but when she actually saw Jabe in the flesh she backed out an married Sir Peter, an' she made him a mighty fine wife, harrin the fact that she had a 20-year-old son that bobbed up during the ceremony an' turned out to be as shiftless as it's possible for a man to git an' live."

"Then Jabe gits desperit, an' he up an' offers a hundred dollars reward to anybody as will git him a partner. But that didn't amount to much. Ole Dad Harris 'lowed the one that had a 20-year-old son that bobbed up during the ceremony an' turned out to be as shiftless as it's possible for a man to git an' live."
